

Amy I. Wann

Associate

awann@desmaraisllp.com

NEW YORK Phone: 212-808-2956 Fax: 212-351-3401

Ms. Wann's practice focuses on intellectual property and technology-related litigation in cases involving computer networking, medical devices, and cryptography. She has experience in all phases of litigation, including preparing pleadings and contentions, managing discovery, taking and defending fact and expert depositions, drafting briefs, and arguing at hearings.

Ms. Wann served as a law clerk to Chief Judge Rodney Gilstrap in the Eastern District of Texas, during which time she participated in seven jury trials and two bench trials, as well as numerous pre-trial conferences and motion hearings. During law school, Ms. Wann was a Senior Articles Editor for the Annual Survey of American Law. Before law school, she conducted scientific research on stem cells.

Prior Experience

- Summer Associate, Desmarais LLP, 2018, 2017
- Summer Associate, Kirkland & Ellis LLP, 2018

Clerk & Government Experience

Law Clerk to the Hon. Rodney R. Gilstrap, United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, 2024-2025

News & Publications

- Desmarais LLP Secures Complete Defense Verdict for Abiomed in Blood Pump Patent Trial

EDUCATION

New York University School of Law, J.D., 2019; Vice President, Intellectual Property and Entertainment Law Society

Harvard University, A.B., Human Developmental and Regenerative Biology, 2014

ADMISSIONS

2020, New York